Tanushree Gupta completed her doctoral studies in art conservation in 2016 from the National Museum Institute, New Delhi, from where she obtained her master degree as well in 2010. She had been a PhD intern at the Institute of Conservation, University of Applied Arts Vienna under three scholarships and has been a member of the team since 2015.

With focus on preparing concepts of collection care at the Napier Museum in Trivandrum, India, she works on various Indo-Austrian collaboration projects. In this capacity, she organizes workshops and conferences and communicates the progress through publications and presentations. She is part of the editorial team of the Institute of Conservation, and participates in hands-on conservation every time she has an opportunity.
